

Guide to Getting Started with Your Playground Project

So, you have decided that you want to take on a playground project, but you are not sure where to start. The beginning of any project can be a bit daunting if you do not know where you are headed.

We have put this guide together to assist you in this process. We have over 30 years of experience helping our customers through similar situations. We believe that answering the following questions will help your team to articulate what they are looking for and make it easier to communicate your wants/needs to any partners you bring in to assist you.

Our guide offers a series of questions to help you start your project and stay on track. We hope you find it useful as you bring your playground to life. Please feel free to reach out with questions at any time.

Who: Consider the individuals who will be impacted by this new playground.

- Who will use the playground (think about different age groups and total number of users)?

What: This is the space to envision what will be included or excluded from this project.

- What kind of features would you like to see on your playground?

When: Timing can be very important and more involved than you might think.

- When would you like to see the playground complete?

Where: Let's think about your site.

- Do you have a location in mind? What is the area size?

---

Why: Time to look at the bigger purpose of your project.

- Why are you pursuing a playground project right now?

How: Keep these details in mind to help you select a team and stay on track.

- How will you complete your project? Some things to consider include:
  - Who needs to be involved in the decision making?
  - How will you fund it?
  - How will you select a partner?
